IN JUSTICE

Tapori - actors of change

Hello dear Tapori!

You have your compass which points to the injustices you want to fight against, and your feet are ready to walk in that direction.

But beware! Walking can be tiring and discouraging... especially if you have a pebble in your shoe.

In this letter, we are going to focus on the obstacles you may come across when you stand up together against injustice.

With the story of the children in Madagascar, you will discover how they took action against the injustice they saw in their neighbourhood.

Are you ready? Then let's get started!

We're the Taporì children of Antohomadinika, a neighbourhood in Antananarivo, the capital of Madagascar. People speak very badly of our neighbourhood, of the people who live here and all the mess. This reputation leads us to lie when we're asked where we live. If we tell the truth, we're labelled as poor, dirty and sick. We just don't want to be humiliated.

It's true that there's a lot of rubbish in our neighbourhood. It's also true that some people throw their rubbish outside, but that's because we don't have room in our houses or on our plots. When it rains, we're worried because the water reaches our houses. Our whole neighbourhood is flooded. This means that we can't go to school and diseases spread. In our neighbourhood, because of the rubbish and the flooding, it's hard to have fun, and we get bored.

Our Taporì group decided to clean up the area so that people wouldn't say all these things anymore and so we wouldn't be looked down on. And also so that the air is fresh, everyone is healthy, and our hands stay clean. By clearing up the neighbourhood, we wanted to send a message to parents and we think it worked. Some parents said that we are courageous kids. One mum came to help us because her children are still small and can't join in. We now hope that all the people in our area have understood our efforts and will stop littering, that together we'll all succeed in keeping our neighbourhood clean.
